

Have an adventure of a lifetime...

And be part of the solution to plastic marine pollution!

Algalita Marine Research Foundation invites you to join their next research voyage through the North Pacific Gyre July 7–27, 2011

Here's your chance to be part of an exciting eco-adventure with Algalita Marine Research Foundation (AMRF) on board the Pangaea Explorations sailing research vessel, Sea Dragon, where you'll participate in studies being conducted on the impact of plastic waste on our oceans.

Voyaging from Hawaii to Vancouver, British Columbia, you'll help sail and maintain the vessel, stand watch, cook meals, and assist in the research work...an unforgettable experience!

Only ten slots are available for this amazing expedition, so sign up early. Cost is $10,000* per person and net proceeds will help support AMRF's scientific research and educational outreach programs. For more information or to make reservations, please call (562) 598-4889 or go on line to
